

Pixmore Pizza Reading Challenge – Optional Half Term task

We are half way through our fabulous reading challenge and we've got loads of challenges and points left to earn! Every point counts and some extra reading could earn those last few points that might make your class win the pizza party at the end of term!

Here is the first whole class challenge that is worth some bonus points: A PIZZA BOOK REPORT- Famous People, favourite book or book characters.

Draw out your own pizza base with at least 6 sections or use the blank one provided. Do some research on a famous person from history or your favourite book or book character. Then fill each slice with some interesting facts or a description of plot, characters and settings. One section can be a picture like the example below. Make sure that you add lots of colour to your book report to make it look like a real pizza. Once you have completed it, take a photo (or a few photos) of your Pizza Book Report and post it on Seesaw. Make sure to send your book report in by Monday 2nd November so the points can be added.

Have a lovely half term and 'Get Reading!'
